THE NEAR EAST RELIEF FUND.

The campaign for funds for the care of over 70,000 children in 179 orphanages under care of the American Near East Relief began yesterday. Miss Beth Higgins, State Director, and Miss Rica Straffer, Field Representative, were in the city Sunday, speaking in the Sunday schools and churches in the interest of the campaign. Mrs. Howard B. Carr is local chairman for Bourbon county and will lead in the effort to provide funds for the care of thirty-five orphans, which is the county's allotment.

You are invited to inspect the window decorated to portray in a small way some conditions existing in Armenia. See it at Ardy's Drug Store. Miss Straffer is visiting the schools telling the story to the children, hoping to enlist them in an effort to do our part in this great work.

OFFICERS LOCATE STILL IN CEMETERY.

Sheriff M. Peale Collier and Deputy Sheriff James Gibson, of Bourbon, accompanied by Prohibition Officers W. C. White, John D. Collins and Commissioner Ward, of Lexington, paid a visit to an old cemetery just over the county line near Millersburg, where they found a moonshine still, a number of kegs, barrels and mash.

The operator of the still had apparently become suspicious and believed that his location had been discovered, as the still had been removed. No arrests were made, but the authorities are conducting an investigation, hoping to land the operator of the plant. The copper worm was brought to Paris and added to the collection in the Sheriff's office, and the rest of the material confiscated and destroyed.

CITY COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

At the regular meeting of the City Council held Thursday night in the Council Chamber of the City Hall, City Attorney Charles A. McMillan was authorized to draw up a license ordinance, applicable to the Lexington, daily newspapers, whereby a license fee will be exacted for doing business in the city of Paris. According to the new ordinance other foreign papers circulating in Paris will be exempt from paying the license.

The names of Ossian Edwards, B. M. Renick and M. J. Lavin were submitted as members of the Board of Tax Supervisors. Councilman Kenney suggested that the name of Mr. Renick be dropped and that the name of either Catesby Spears or Woodford Spears, whichever would consent to serve be submitted. The motion was carried.

Following a meeting of the committee with Fred Weckesser, owner of a number of bus lines plying between Paris and neighboring towns, a license fee of $100 per year on each bus, which was adopted at a previous meeting of the Council, was allowed to stand. City Clerk Hayden was allowed three per cent. commission on all delinquent taxes collected by him up to December 31, 1921. The Improvement Committee was given power to make a settlement with the J. T. Hinton Co. for alleged damages done to curbing and pipe leading into their establishment at the corner of Main and Sixth streets.

Members of the City Board of Education, accompanied by Prof. Lee Kirkpatrick, Superintendent of Paris Schools, appeared before the Council, and submitted the budget for the coming year, which calls for an additional teacher in each of the second, third and fourth grades, and three additional teachers in the High School. The latter is made necessary due to the marvelous increase in attendance in the past three years from 121 to 304. A bond issue was also requested for the sum of $80,000, with which to build a new High School building on the premises adjoining the present building on Seventh street. The matter was referred to the Finance Committee, who will report at the next regular meeting of Council.

PICKPOCKETS GET PARIS MAN

While attending the running of the Kentucky Derby at the Louisville track Mr. Charles S. Spears, of Paris, was relieved of $65, which was abstracted from his pocket in the big crowd by a light-fingered gent. Frank Kiser says he saw a pickpocket take a gold watch from a man's pocket and deftly pass it to a confederate, both disappearing before he could inform the victim. Robberies amounting close to $12,000 were reported to the police during the afternoon.

"LOUISVILLE PLAYERS" COMING TO LEXINGTON

The unusual success of the three plays recently presented at the Shubert Theatre, in Louisville, by the Louisville Players' Club, has prompted that organization to give the performance in Lexington and the date has been set for Saturday evening, May 20.

The Louisville Players Club, the most famous amateur organization of Louisville, is composed of leading society people who play for the sake of art rather than for profit. The twenty members comprising the cast include such well-known talent as Boyd Martin, dramatic critic of the Courier-Journal and president of the Dramatic League of Kentucky; Mrs. W. K. Stewart, well-known for her character studies; Miss Margaret Dalrymple, who has refused a number of professional offers; Dr. I. N. Bloom, widely known specialist and one of the most famous amateur actors in the State; Miss Julia Manning; Mrs. Granville L. Burton; Mr. Fulton Mandeville; Mrs. Aubrey Cosar; Mrs. Woodford Dulaney; Mr. Jesse Frazier; Mr. Granville L. Burton, president of the organization, and others socially prominent.

Specially constructed scenery will be sent by truck from Louisville to Lexington to be used in the performance, and it is predicted that a capacity house will greet the Louisville people who are giving their acquaintances of the Bluegrass this opportunity to attend the production. (adv)
